We Conquer With Christ

Labarum is the name by which the military standard, adopted by Constantine the Great after his celebrated vision, was known in antiquity. The original Labarum, designed under the Emperor's direction was a long spear, overlaid with gold, which with a transverse bar formed the figure of the cross.

On the top, within a wreath of gold and precious stones, is the symbol of the Saviour's name the letter X intersecting the letter P at the center. From the cross bar was suspended a purple banner with the Greek inscription, "In hoc signo vinces" (in this sign thou shalt conquer).

Foreword

Ever onward and upward, building for time and eternity. With this thought in mind the parishioners of St. Mary Cathedral launch a gigantic building program to secure a new convent for the Dominican Sisters who have taught continuously in our school for nearly fifty years.

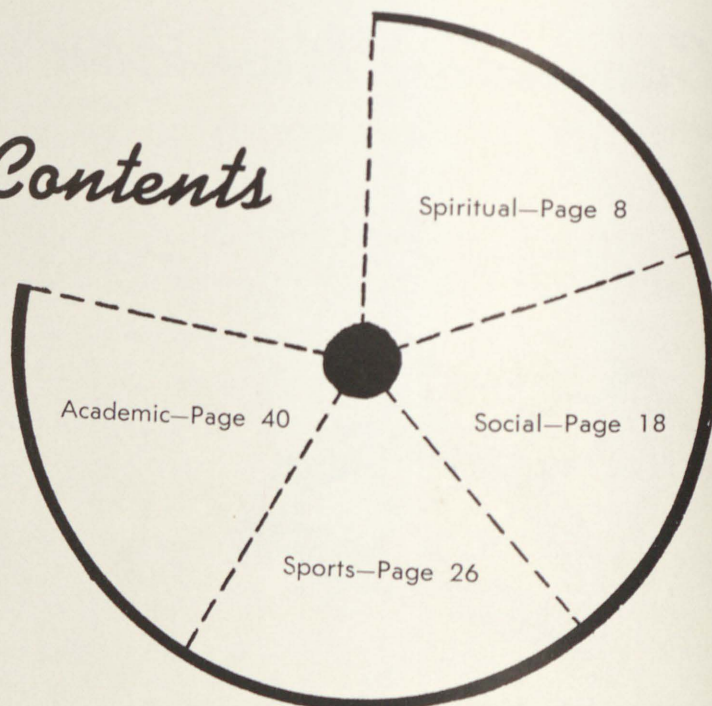

To the outsider our efforts will appear to be structures of basic materials, but to those of us who have given of time, money, and prayer it will be a living memorial dedicated to the harvesting of souls for God.

The expansion program which also includes a new high school has helped us to see, as we begin our work on the '57 Labarum, how St. Mary's has been used as an instrument of Christ in the hands of our administrators and teachers to build our characters and expand our education: spiritually, intellectually, socially and physically. So we construct our yearbook on the theme, "Unless the Lord build the house . . ." and aim to show how influential Christ has been in establishing our foundation during our period of learning at St. Mary's.

Through spiritual instruction we see that God is our sublime end and that we must construct our lives with Him as our goal. Through school activities we are taught the principles of right social relationships while our minds are formed and trained to think first of fair play, putting personal glory out of the picture. St. Mary's through Christian teaching builds students for sound adulthood.

On the following pages we shall lay out and expand upon the blue prints designed to construct the complete man.

Dedication

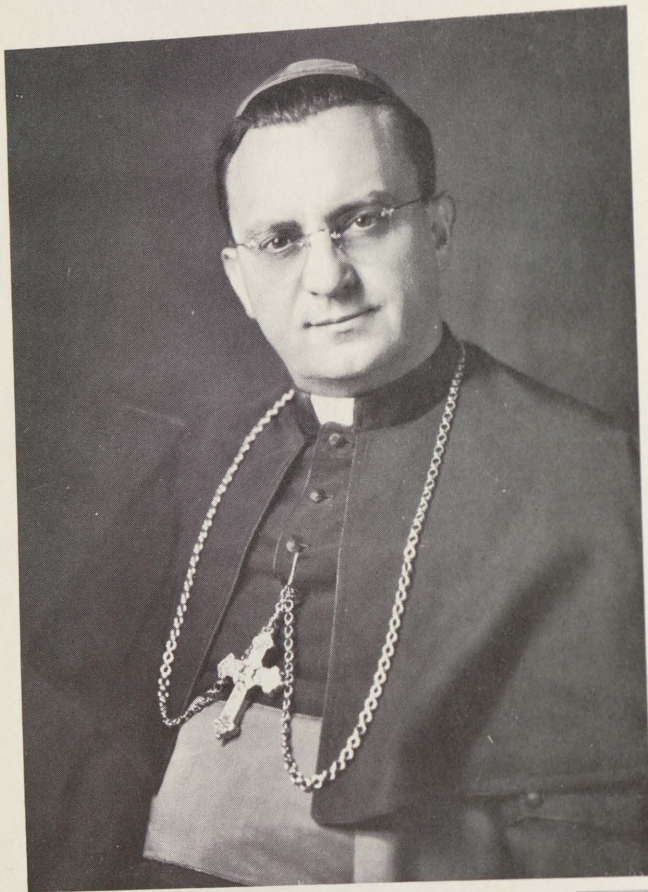

The pattern of our lives began at birth. The first influence we felt came from those whom God had personally appointed to direct our lives mentally, morally, and spiritually. Too rarely do we have an opportunity to salute those persons and so to them, our parents, we dedicate this forty-second volume of the Labarum.

Parents are indeed with Christ, builders of men. Our first steps, our first words, our important decisions have been guided and influenced by their example and love. Whereas we recognize and appreciate the many and varied persons and experiences that have touched and molded our lives, we do feel sincerely that no other single group has assumed the responsibility and borne our many burdens as have our parents.

We leave St. Mary's to take our positions in the adult world. May we go forth and bring honor to our father's house.

Our Administration...

HIS EXCELLENCY
STEPHEN S. WOZNICKI, D.D.
BISHOP OF THE SAGINAW DIOCESE

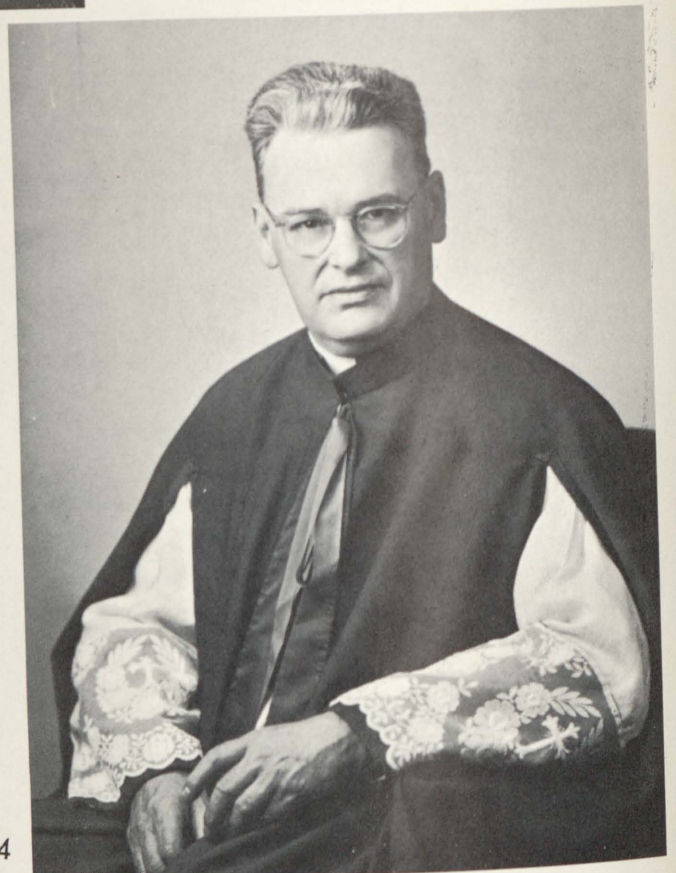

"Unless the Lord Build the House . . ."

An expansion program beginning with a new convent structure to the east of the school is the prime interest of Monsignor Bolton at the present time. Undertaken with a glance towards the future and a thought for the growing population of Saginaw, a new school proportioned to the expanding needs of the student will be built on the site of the old convent.

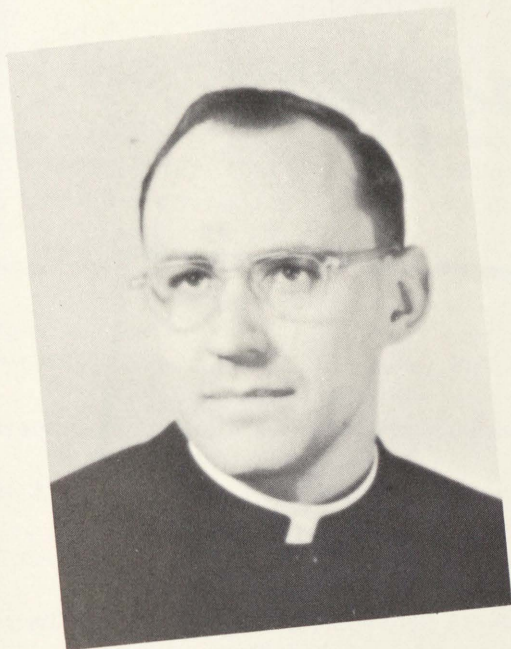

Under the inspiration of the Most Reverend Bishop Woznicki and with a view to the spreading of Christ's doctrine and teaching, this extensive building program will prove itself a students' delight. More space and more modern equipment should encourage higher scholastic and spiritual standards and facilitate the work of the faculty.

Monsignor Vogt's pastorate will always be remembered at St. Mary's as a time of the active work of a great 'Man of God'. We students are grateful for his example of apostolic zeal shown in a zest for both the temporal and the spiritual advancement of his parish. Still vivid in our minds is the impression of his great love for celebrating the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass and his enthusiasm for the seasonal ceremonies prescribed by the Church especially those of Holy Week. Neither the praise of men nor the blessing of a coterie of loyal friends is a satisfying recompense for so beloved a leader. Only God to Whom he early consecrated his life can adequately reward the priestly labors of his apostolate.

Living Rosary Procession Initiates...

The Living Rosary Procession in honor of the Blessed Virgin began the spiritual activities of National Catholic Youth Week observed October 28 to November 4. Daily Mass and Holy Communion were stressed.

Acolytes have long been a praiseworthy group at the Cathedral. These seven senior altar boys leave St. Mary's with the satisfying thought that they have given many hours of faithful service. (Left to right) M. Davison, J. Neberle, R. Campau, W. Walls, R. Thomas, C. Rath, and C. Herm.

National Catholic Youth Week

Louise Garske and John Mahank explain to the student body the purpose of National Catholic Youth Week. A strong country is built around its youth.

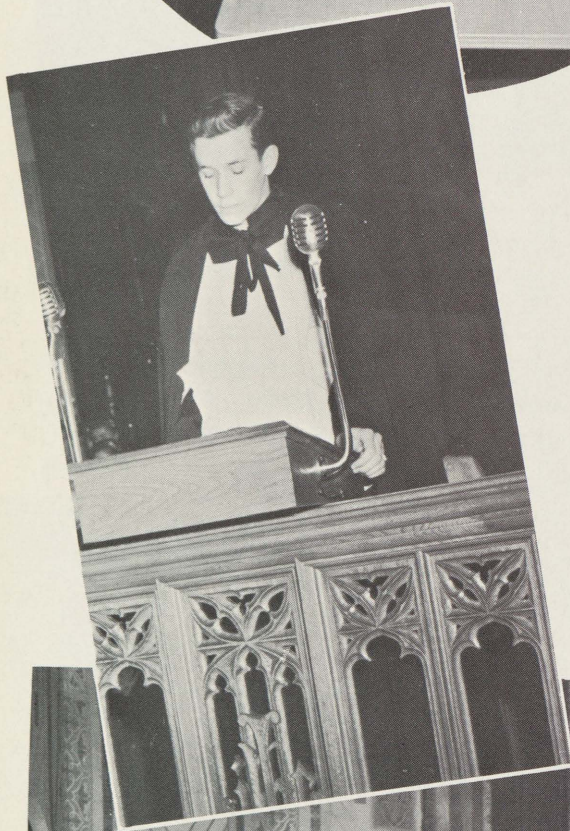

Building a fine young America is a fragment of the idea behind National Catholic Youth Week. Anne Hatch, John Sutorik, and Gerald Loiselle observe a reminder that the only way to be a true Catholic youth is by keeping close to Christ and His Sacraments.

Catholic Action

Plans for Sodality action are made in weekly unit meetings. Clockwise this unit shows J. Kolleth, R. Fedorowicz, G. Morrisette, D. Bieri, R. McIntyre, J. Mahank, R. Cole, R. Brennan, J. Loiselle, R. Novak, and C. Rath.

The second annual choral reading of the prophecies was given by Cathedral students during Advent with Robert McIntyre as narrator and three vested choirs taking part.

Parish Work

Marion Troester and Sylvia Kenton contribute time and energy to parish work as they run off the weekly Sunday bulletin.

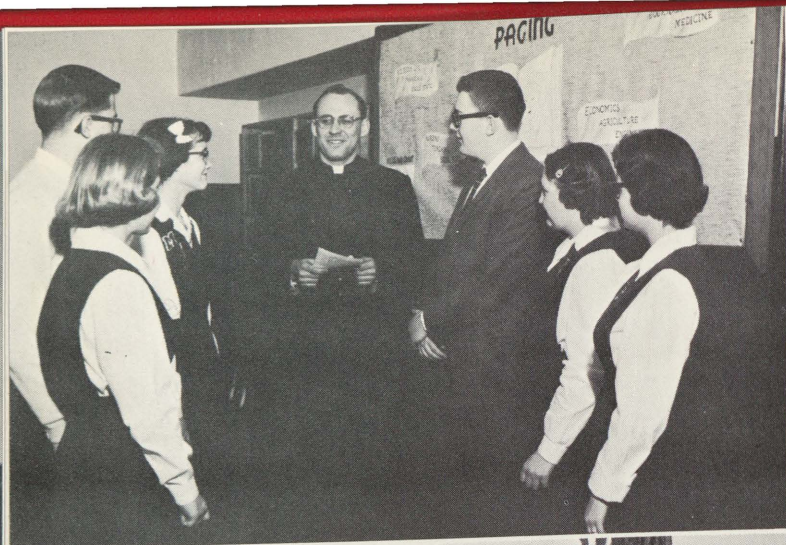

Active sodalists perform baby-sitting duties in Dalton Hall after Masses on Sunday. Typical workers are Sue Potts and Ellen Kay Miller and their charges: Mike, Brenda, and Diane Marshall.

B. Borsenik, S. Sullivan, L. Garske, M. Zak, M. Sladowski prepare for the teaching of Saturday catechism classes.

The Cornerstone

For proficiency in the study and practice of religion, senior Cathy Schrems is shown receiving the Religion Award from Rt. Rev. Msgr. Bolton, pastor.

... of Student Life

Intensive studies are made of the Mass in Sodality groups and religion classes to further appreciation for the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass. Here Msgr. Vogt elevates the chalice at the consecration.

Passing their Sodality offices of Prefect and Co-Prefect on to R. Cole and C. Schrems are O. Kahler and J. Barry in the presence of Rt. Rev. Msgr. H. J. Bolton, pastor.

During their last high school Retreat, seniors, M. McGillen, R. Furstenberg, S. Jung-erheld, J. Wilson, P. Kennedy and M. LyVere pose with Father Bassett, Retreat master.

Ye Works of the Lord

On March 12, the juniors proudly marched to the Communion rail for the second annual blessing of class rings by Msgr. Bolton. Bestowing such a blessing makes the ring of a Cathedral student a cherished remembrance.

For many years the new convent seemed nothing more than a dream; but when Msgr. Bolton blessed the cornerstone in mid-January, the dream became at last a reality. Viewing the important ceremony are faculty members Sisters James, Yvonne, Corona, Ann Denise, Olivia, Genevieve Clare, and Peter Verona.

Bless the Lord

Student organists play for the daily high Mass at 7:55 and for other ceremonies. Pictured here are C. Naismith, K. McIntyre, K. Stevens, B. Dinse, and M. Schill.

Father Peter Pijnappels and the elementary grade boys Vested Choir add grandeur to special ceremonies at the Cathedral.

Traditional Fall Dances...

Judy Neberle, popularity contest winner for the Sophomore Swirl, presents prizes to winners Kathy Bray and Garner. A crowd of about two hundred enthusiastic guests danced to the music of Bill Pisetas and his band. The Sophomores did a fine job in offering the parochial schools a very enjoyable evening.

These sophomores Bob Nowak, Carolyn Rath and Jack Kolleth finally see their dream of a successful party become a reality.

Amidst a cascade of yearbooks, King Charles Rath and Queen Karen McIntyre are surrounded by their court—Mary Bussinger, John Neberle, Dan Lagalo, and Sandra Jungerheld—just after the crowning ceremony.

M. Doman, K. Corcoran, D. Furstenburg, L. DeWaele, and S. Potts are grouped before the bandstand of Carl DeWaele who provided the music for the Labarum Dance.

Post-Holiday Dances

Looking over the fruits of their work are happy decorators, M. McGillen, J. Bray, C. Herm, B. Martell, D. Campau, and B. Perkins.

The gay mood of the Junior-Senior Prom is captured by Marion Troester, Dick Cole, Sharon Boothe, and John Neberle as they dance to the music of Gene Mallak.

A lively Bunny Hop is enjoyed by this group of juniors and seniors led by James Gorbett and Ann Nickodemus.

Lois DeWaele and Robert Thomas are a typical couple enjoying themselves at the Prom.

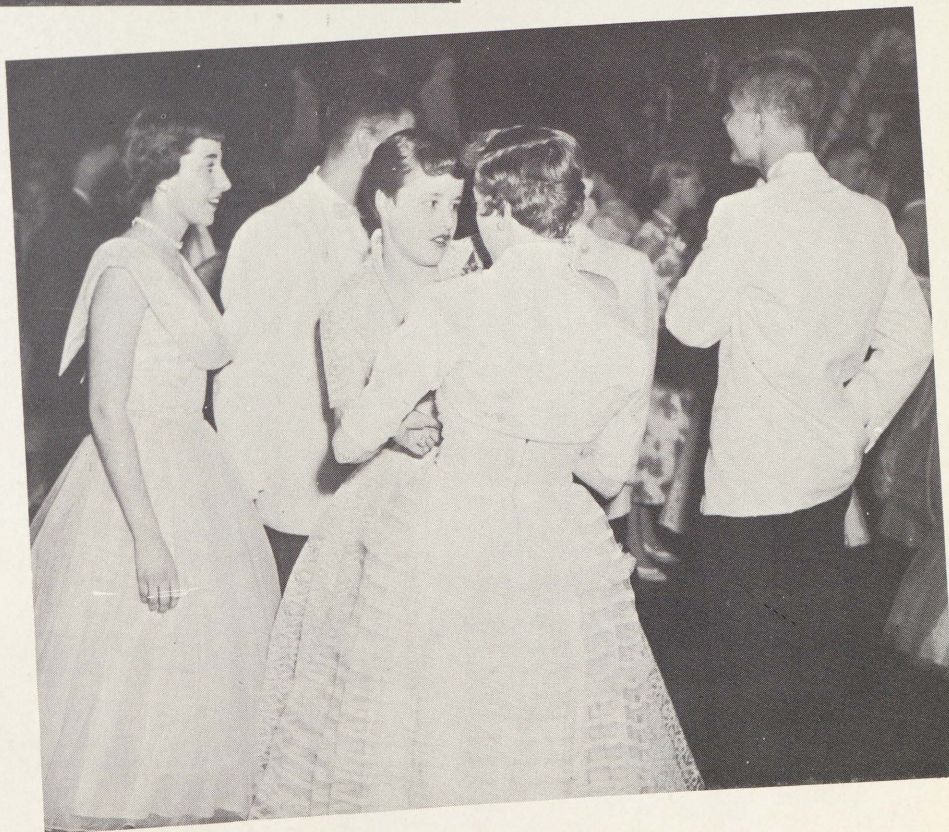

Enchantment of Prom Night

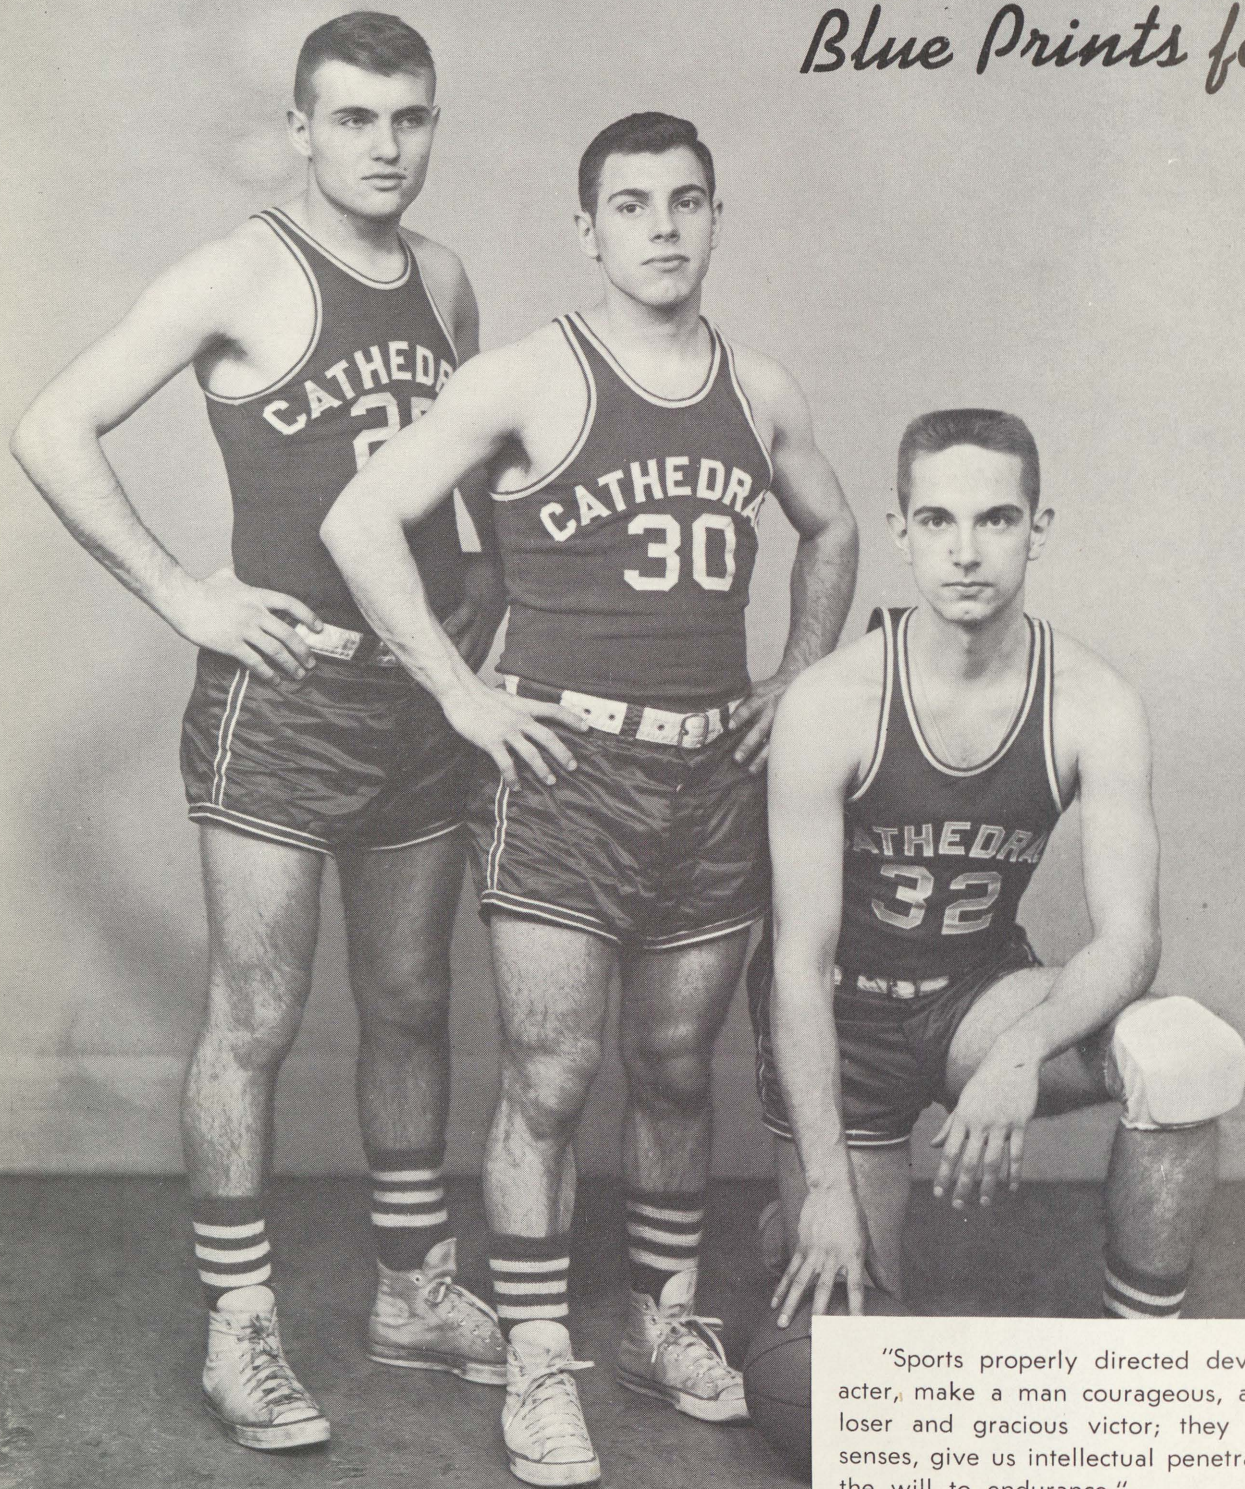

The decorations bring comments of approval from Cathy Schrems, Charles Raths, Ellen Kay Miller, and Robert McIntyre.

A group of excited guests arrive amid exclamations of delight and surprise.

Sowulewski catches a Furstenberg pass.

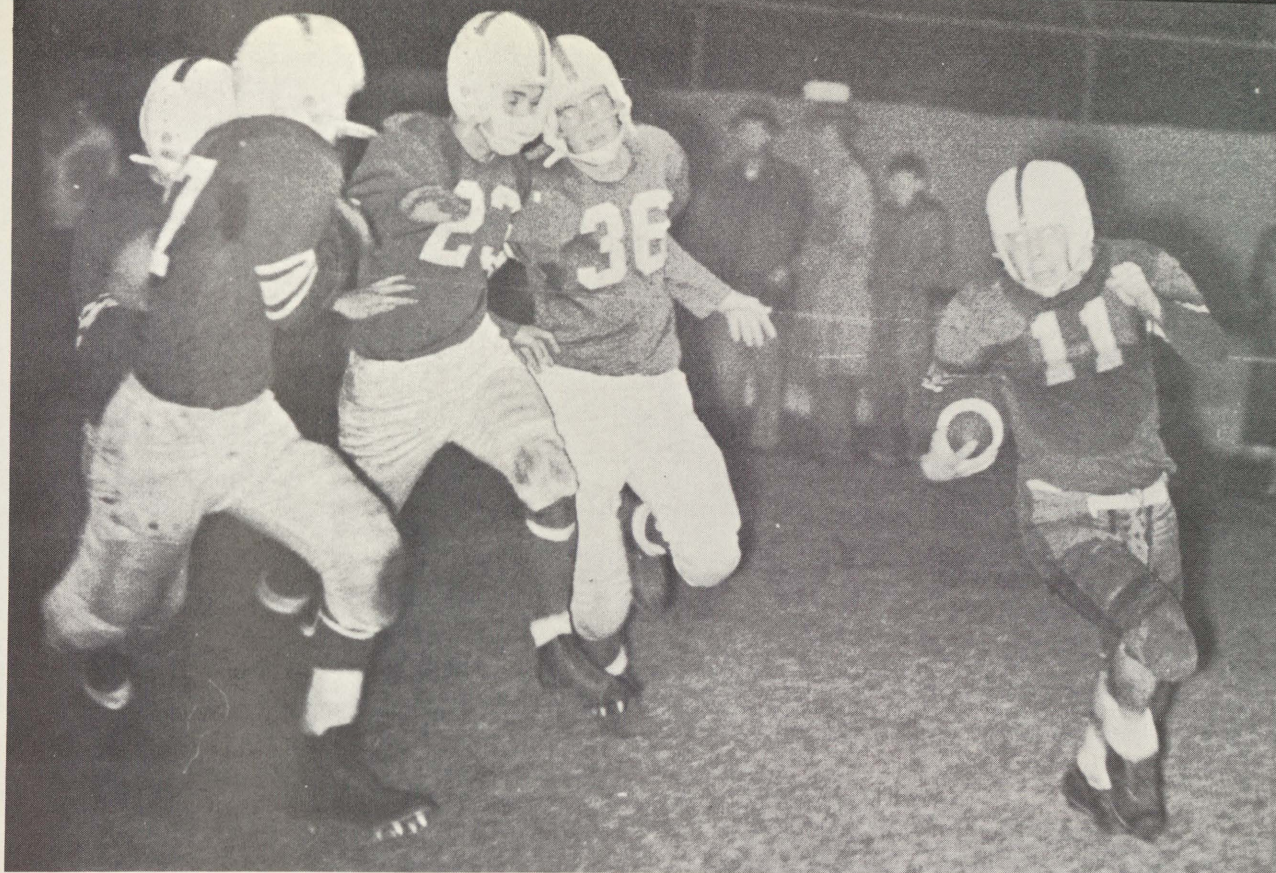

"Look to the future"—this has been the feeling of all remaining members of the nineteen fifty-six football team about this sport at St. Mary's. After beginning the season with a 6-0 win over Holy Rosary, the first victory over the Greyhounds in three years, the Maroons' fortunes were reversed with the loss of the next three games. Injuries that had plagued St. Mary's team since the start of the season finally took their toll, and the remaining three games on the schedule had to be canceled. Lacking player depth from the beginning of the season, the team finally numbered nineteen players. Only ten received varsity letters.

At a pep rally for the entire student body, held near the close of the season, a spark of the old spirit appeared to have been ignited when sixty-one boys signed up for next year's football team.

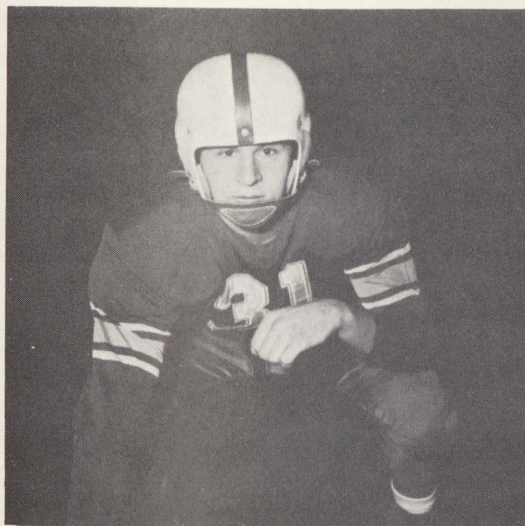

"Look to the future", we of the class of '57 say as we express our gratitude to the faculty, Coach Goodyear, and the Athletic Association for their interest and fine cooperation.

Dick Campau runs for gain

CHUCK HERM CENTER

Chuck, one of last year's returning lettermen, distinguished himself again this season for outstanding performance. He was frequently cited for his blocking and tackling technique.

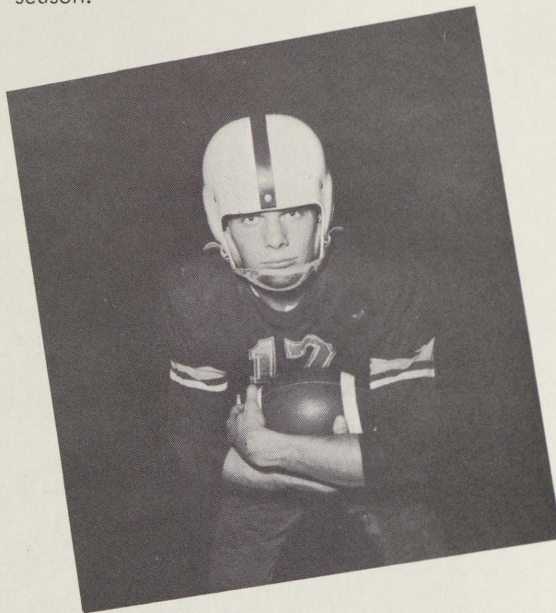

JOHN NEBERLE
GUARD

John, a stalwart center for three seasons, an excellent blocker and a jarring tackler, was a kingpin in the Maroon football machine. He will be a major loss to St. Mary's Varsity.

BOB McINTYRE
HALFBACK

Defense is Bob's specialty. An adept pass-receiver and a vicious tackler, he eats his meat raw during the football season.

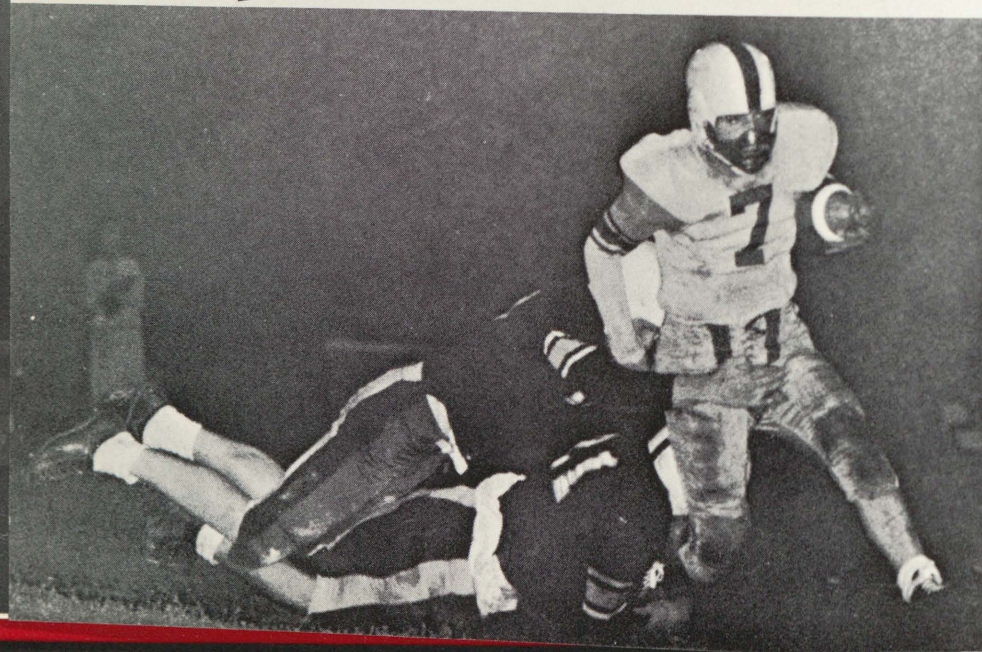

GARY McDONALD
HALFBACK

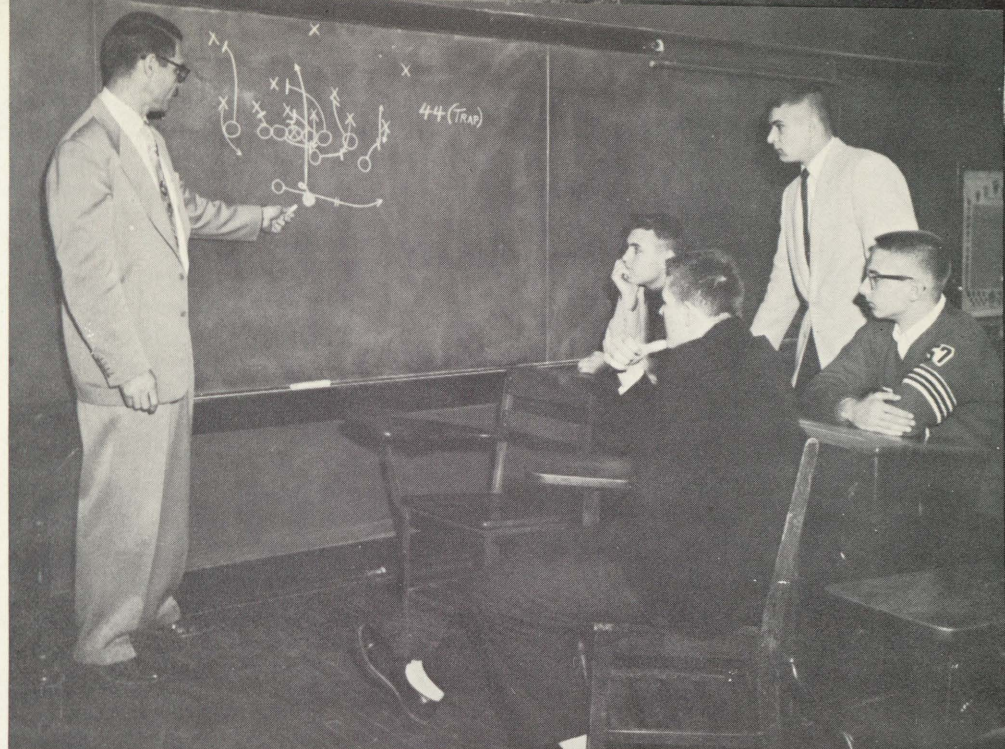

Gary is a driving halfback with good speed whose bone-crushing tackles gave Maroon fans many a thrill. He will be a major cog in the rebuilding of next year's team.

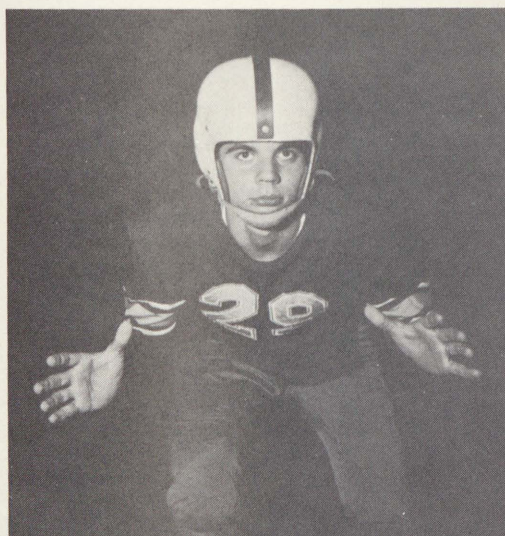

Dan Lagalo, Kathleen Corcoran, Jim Clayton, Barbara Perkins, and Sue Potts were among St. Mary's most loyal fans during the football season.

Dick Compau and an unidentified St. Mary's tackler display the hard hitting form that won the Maroons their first game of the season.

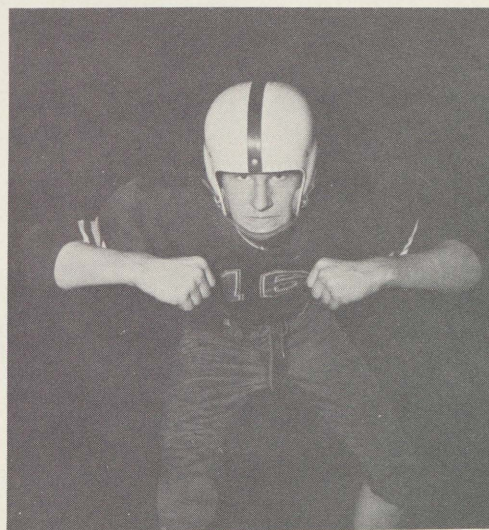

Coach John Goodyear briefs Dick Furstenberg, Dick Brennan, Chuck Herm, and John Neberle on a trap play that was used effectively on the field.

WALTER WALLS
TACKLE

Walls provided 158 pounds of romp-in' stomp-in' fight. An immovable tackle and a defensive standout, he was a challenging competitor all the way.

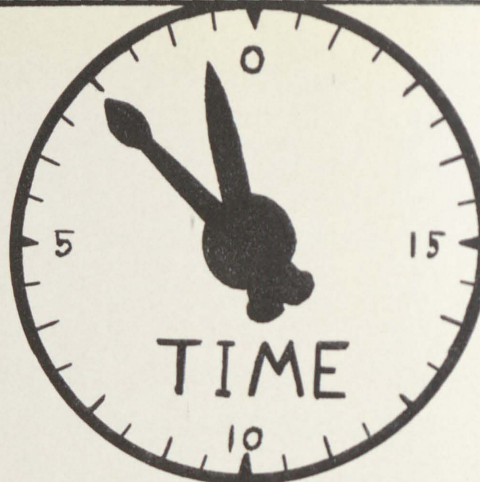

DICK BRENNAN
HALFBACK

Dick, a lion on defense, a workhorse on offense, plays with all his heart, will be a major threat for the next two years.

Maroons Claim Undisputed Title

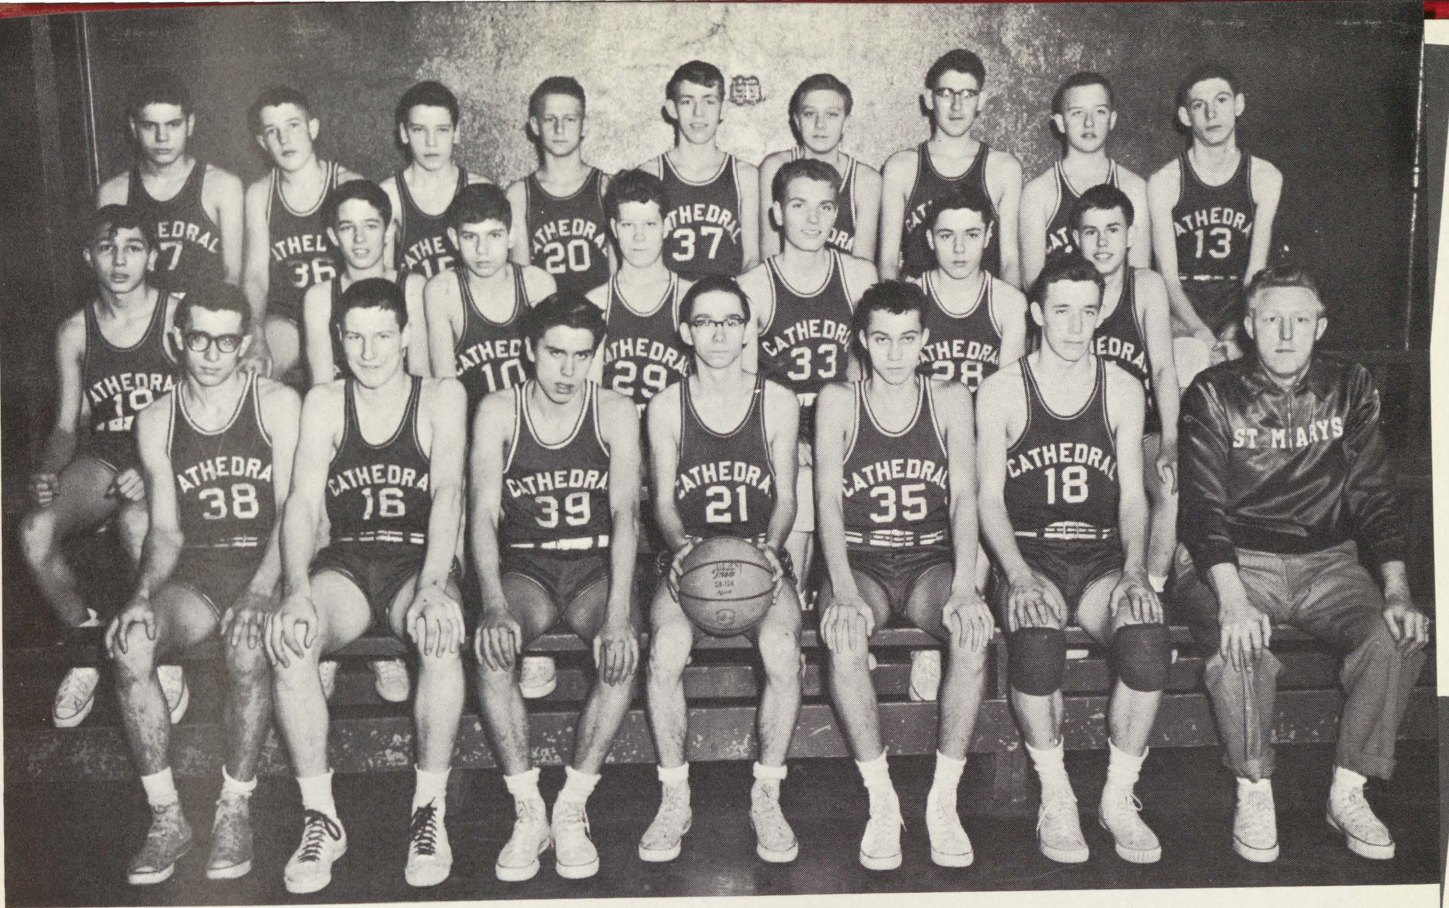

The 1956-57 basketball season was a successful one for the St. Mary's basketball team. For the first time in coach Sam Fanz's ten-year career at the Cathedral, his team won the Valley Parochial C Division title undisputed. The Maroons accomplished this by compiling a 7-1 record in league competition.

Their biggest victory was the non-league win over the V.P.L.B. Division champions, St. Stanislaus. In this game, Dick Furstenberg set a new school scoring record with 46 points. Dick's effort broke the team mark of 42 points set by Ron Ruppert in 1953.

The loss of Gordon Leslie after the third game of the season definitely hampered the Maroon scoring attack. Gordon was averaging 26 points per game until he suffered a knee injury.

 second row: J. O'Donnell, R. McLoughlin, D. Rocchio, M. Brennan, R. Fedorowicz, M. Doman, T. Smith;

The Junior Varsity, although they did not compile an impressive record, gained valuable experience that will profit them next year and spur them on to greater victories.

Physical Education

Under the direction of Mrs. John McCarty and Mrs. Malcolm McCrea, the girls of St. Mary's twice weekly take over the gym in classes of about twenty to participate in a Physical Education program. Volleyball, basketball, modern dance, and tumbling have been stressed in order to gain a well-balanced physical education curriculum.

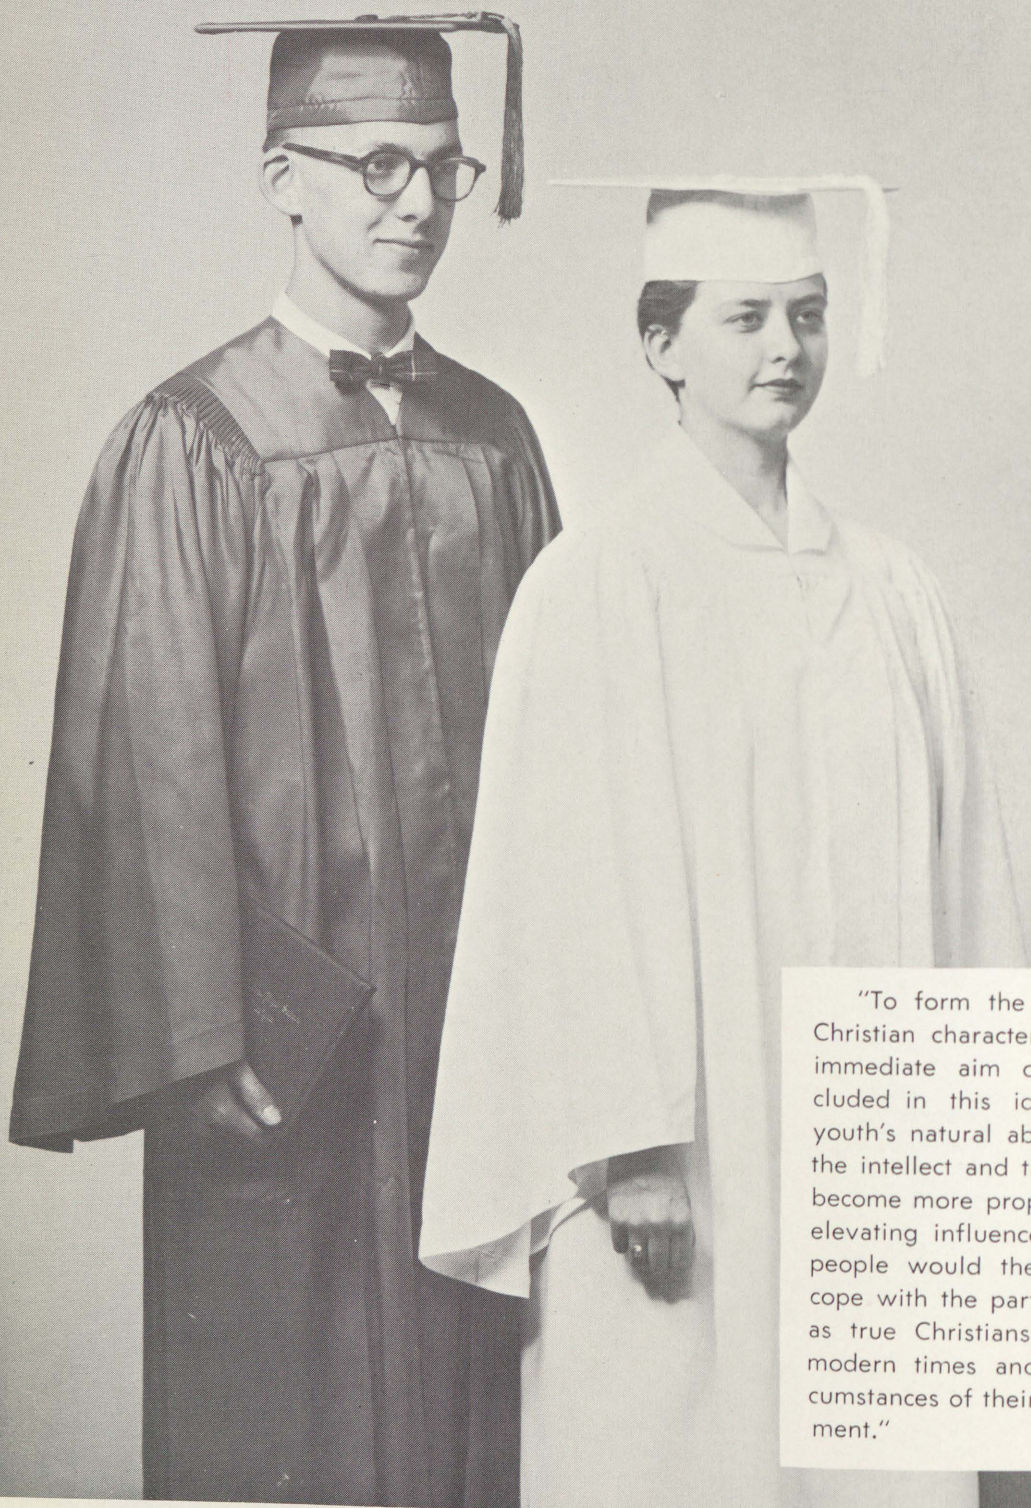

Holds Interest

Girls enjoy tumbling, square dancing, and basketball during forty-minute classes twice a week. This well received break in classroom routine is looked forward to by all high school girls. After only one year of experience many of the students are proficient in various sports activities.

"To form the true and perfect man of Christian character, then, is the proper and immediate aim of correct education. Included in this ideal is the perfecting of youth's natural abilities and powers, chiefly the intellect and the will, which would then become more properly developed under the elevating influence of God's grace. Young people would then be better prepared to cope with the particular difficulties of living as true Christians under the conditions of modern times and in the face of any circumstances of their personal or local environment."

Freshmen Learn Language Skills

Latin lives on the tongues of the freshmen at Cathedral.

Library methods are explained to a group of Freshies by Sister M. Redempta, Librarian.

The boys are right down to business in the mechanical drawing class as Sr. Joseph Ann looks on.

M. Stevens, D. Brennan, and N. Bell tape record their T. B. essays for a W S A M broadcast. In the final contest M. Stevens and A. Martindale (not pictured) received honorable mention. The two girls were among 168 state contestants.

Miss Vargas revives the past for the sophomores in a group of modern history students.

Library Hour ... Classes

The library reference room is a popular spot at St. Mary's. A. Martindale, M. Zak, and A. Morrison enjoy examining a new set of encyclopedias.

New educational trends have intensified student interest in math. Here A. Nickodemus demonstrates a trig problem while C. Schrems and C. Rath look on.

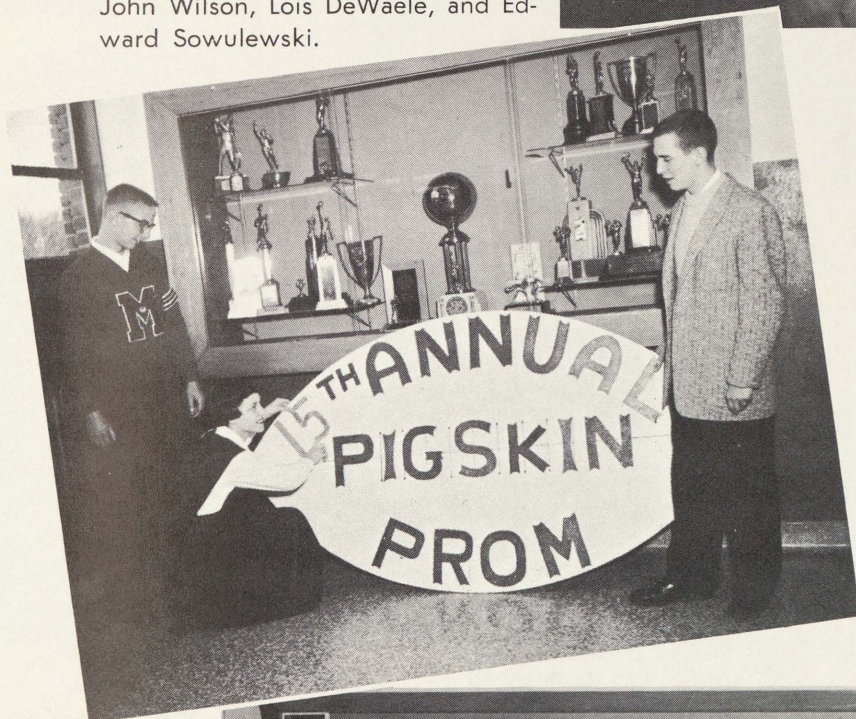

Science is another popular subject at St. Mary's. These chemistry students are among those who made projects for both the Science Exhibit and the MIDLAND SCIENCE FAIR.

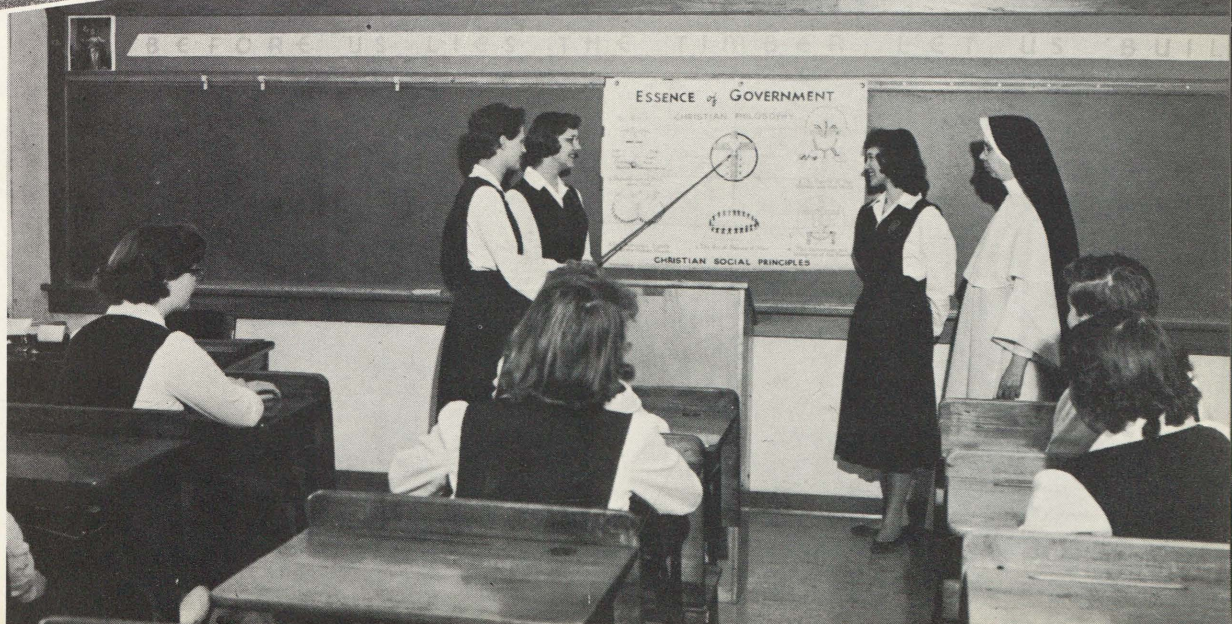

Upper Classmen Share in Leadership

One of the tremendous jobs for leaders of the senior class is the annual Pigskin Prom. Looking over part of the decorations are John Neberle, president; Lois Lichon, secretary; Don Lagalo, treasurer. Missing from picture is Judy Bray, vice-president.

Studying the principles of our government under the direction of Sister Agnes Clare are seniors Virginia Farmer, Jeanette Wellman, Pat Kennedy, Margo Blanke, Mary Bussinger, Louise Garske, and Jean Wiecha.

Seniors Discover ...

"This is the best yearbook yet, so you'll surely want a copy" is typical of the sales talk given by business managers in their drive to solicit subscriptions. Besides the actual soliciting, the bookwork and distribution was handled by Business Managers, B. Perkins, J. Clayton, and M. Doman. Karen McIntyre (at the typewriter) served as Managing Editor.

The able typists Jean Wiecha, Virginia Farmer, and Lois Lichon are always on hand to type copy accurately.

Providing the masculine touch to the Labarum Staff were Ad Managers D. Lagalo and R. Furstenberg, and Sports Editors M. McGillen and J. Neberle. No yearbook can go to press without substantial financial support and Dan and Dick ably did their part. Since sports play a prominent role in Cathedral life, John and Mike had their work cut out for them and they did not disappoint us.

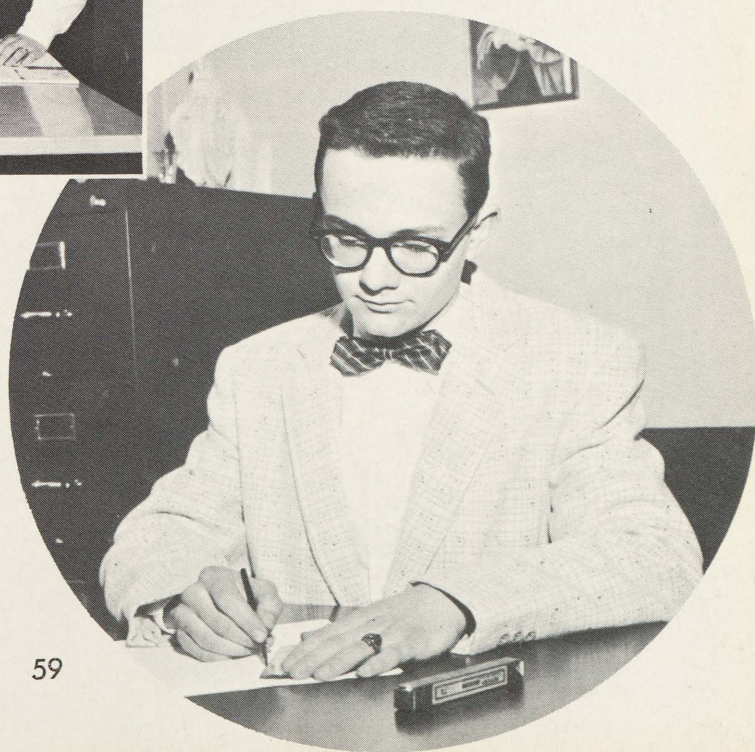

The Secrets of Journalism

The Labarum entails work and cooperation on the part of all the students. Religion and social division editors pool their ideas on page makeup (l. to r.): S. Jungerheld, B. Martell, S. Sullivan, L. DeWaele, and C. Schrems.

"One more job and then I'm finished," a popular quote from Art Editor John Sutorik. However, the task of chief artist for the Labarum was a big one, and John worked right up to the last deadline.

Organizations ...

Officers of the Alpha, Beta, Gamma, Delta, and Jets divisions of the Eureka Science Club are R. McIntyre, M. Zak, E. Vargas, C. Schrems, and M. McGillen.

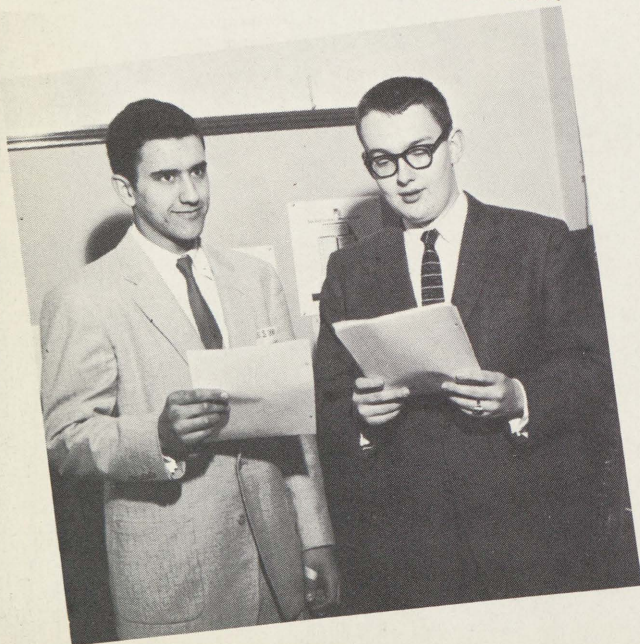

St. Mary's was well represented in the annual Voice of Democracy contest sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. School winners and semi-finalists worked diligently to prepare their manuscripts for the final draft. Students whose essays made the contest are (l. to r.): J. Bray, E. Miller, A. Nickodemus, D. Cole, D. Lagalo, S. Potts, J. Neberle, J. Wiecha, C. Rath, and A. Baumer.

Broadcasts over stations WSAM and WSGW are handled proficiently by juniors John Mahank and Roger Smigiel, chairmen of the Broadcasters' Club.

Latin may be dead in some parts of the world, but our third year students under the supervision of Sister Peter Verona have made Latin live once again. Pictured at a Latin III Club meeting, Patres Conscripti, are J. Metevier, M. O'Donnell, A. Hatch, C. Baybeck, and A. Miles.

Highlight Student Activities

Unpacking and inspecting attractive new books are student librarians C. Naismith, K. Wachowiak, J. Neberle, J. Mercer, P. Karl, and M. Weisenberger.

Students Gain Recognition

Judges for the Local Forensic Contest, held on February 21, named two winners in each field. Pictured here are Pat Posey and Rosalie Woodcock, Interpretive Reading; Mary Zak and Betty Dinse, Declamation; Margaret O'Donnell and Carol Baybeck, Original Oratory; Gary McDonald and Antoinette Bueche, Humorous; Ann Nickodemus and Cathy Schrems, Extemporeous.

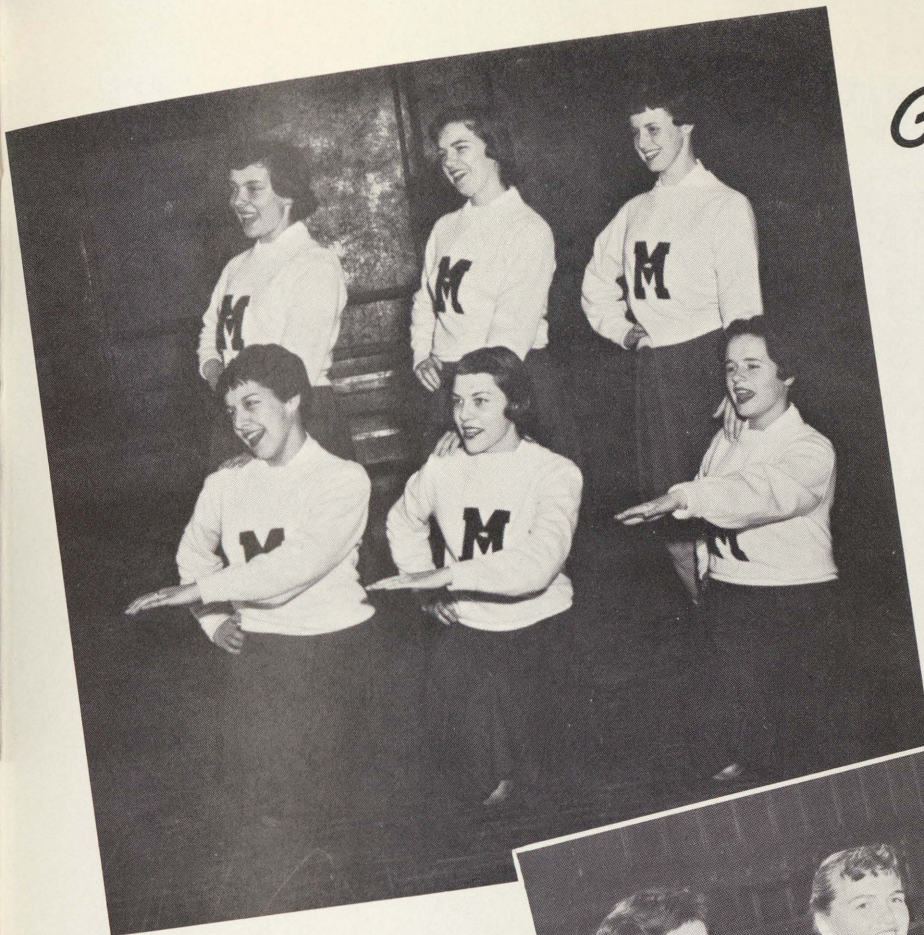

Junior and senior members of the Scholastic Honor Society include Sue Potts, Lois DeWaele, Alice Baumer, Ellen Kay Miller, Doris O'Toole, Judy Me-tevier, Cathy Schrems, Dan Lagalo, Carol Baybeck, Karen McIntyre, Gordon Leslie, Margo Blanke, Ann Nickodemus, and John Neberle, (Missing: Jean Wiecha).

Cheerleaders

Varsity cheerleaders Beth Martell, Judy Bray, Cathy Schrems, Rosalie Woodcock and mascot Teddy relax after boosting the school spirit in a pep meeting.

"Yea Team" is the cheer led by Junior Varsity cheerleaders Toni Bueche, Kathy Bray, Lorraine Paskiewicz, Barb Bastien, Pat Kolleth and Winnie Haley.

Music Graduates

Sunday, May 19, was the designated day for two Cathedral seniors to receive their well-merited laurels. Miss McIntyre's and Miss Schrems' graduation recital climaxed a ten-year study of music. During this period of study the graduates actively participated in Glee Club, Choir, piano and theory classes, and accompanying. Rt. Rev. Msgr. Bolton, School Superintendent, presented high school music diplomas to the young pianists.
